Subject: Roles and Responsibilities for Students with Disabilities

The purpose of this document is to identify the roles and responsibilities for the various staff in WCSD who directly and indirectly support our students with disabilities.

It is imperative, however, in a time of limited resources and increased demands, that roles and responsibilities are clearly defined. A clear understanding of how our system supports individual student’s needs and learning is critical. Therefore, we must define structures, programs, and expectations for our students, staff, and families, which will lead to better support for our students. The greatest challenge of a large district is coordinating the actions of numerous people, including teachers, school staff, central office, families, and the community.

As former principals, the Executive Directors guide and support school administrators to ensure state and federal laws are being followed.

Communicate regularly with building administrators, instructional coordinators, and area superintendents. All significant issues related to special education will be coordinated through the Executive Director.

Executive Directors work collaboratively with Area Superintendents to coordinate services and supports for schools.

Executive Directors work collaboratively with the Compliance Department in supporting schools’ needs.

Instructional Coordinator (IC): ICs are the primary contact for all issues. ICs will do a preliminary assessment of all issues, and will report significant issues to their respective Executive Directors. Significant issues include change of placement, advocate issues, staffing, concern of potential due process/comp ed, and difficult or complex IEP cases.

- The IC is an administrative position and is equivalent to a high school assistant principal.
- The IC provides general support to principals, assistant principals, teachers, and aides and assistants, with a focus on improving instruction in special education classrooms.
- ICs assist with general compliance and support schools with family issues and ensure appropriate staff are brought to the school when content-specific issues arise.

Student Services staff visit school sites at least once every 15 school days.
