Reno High School

This improv camp is an introduction to short and long-form improvised storytelling. In it, we'll explore character development, story arcs, weaving ideas together, and the best ways to make each other look our best. Students will walk away with an enriched understanding of empathy, teamwork, and trust.

Some of the skills learned through acting, improvisation and role play include: verbal/nonverbal communication skills, creative thinking & problem solving, emotional understanding and regulation, empathy & compassion, quality & carry through, motivation & commitment, collaboration & teamwork, independent thinkers, time management skills, initiative, active listening, adaptability & flexibility, ability to work under pressure & personal discipline, leadership, forward thinking and fun!
