Mark your calendars for the virtual College Awareness Week starting on October 20th. All middle and high school families are invited to this series of virtual events. The District is hosting a series of online workshops and events where students will have the opportunity to participate, explore, and plan for college. Students and families can attend virtual events with information on the college application process, dual credit for high school students, and resources for our Native American, Black, first generation and immigrant students.

The annual College Fair hosted by the Western Association for College Admissions Counseling (WACAC) is online with more than 100 colleges represented. To attend, families need to register online. Visit the College Awareness Week website in English or in Spanish to find additional information about all the workshops and presentations, including the virtual College Fair. For promotional videos, click here for English and here for Spanish.

The College Awareness Week will run from October 20th to October 22nd and is brought to you by the District's Counseling Department, Parent University, and the Western Association for College Admissions Counseling (WACAC).
