Learn to improvise, learn life skills, have fun and laugh a lot!

Give the gift of confidence in our afterschool comedy/applied improvisation classes. Our high energy, professional applications focus on the process of each student building confidence in communicating with self, others, and the world at large. Each session we offer new activities and skills while guiding students on why these strengths matter in school, and beyond. Rooted in life and social skill building, KidScape Productions helps students practice real-life situations through participation before they occur in the real world. We also must mention that this class is hysterical and fun making the process extremely enjoyable!

All classes will end with a free impromptu show where parents and the community are encouraged to attend. New performance games will be presented each session, no experience necessary and repeat students are encouraged to attend as "Repetition creates mastery." Questions?
