

Reno High Students and Families

Whether you want to increase your confidence in tackling the sections of the exam or just want to get a better sense of the exams, we're here to help. This Fall, The Princeton Review will host webinars and tests to help you learn everything there is to know about the exams as we walk you through what it takes to master, timing, content, and strategy. You can attend one event, or multiple, we will just be excited to see you there.
